

Sohan and Owishi's Adventure

Sohan and Owishi were best friends. Every morning, they would walk together to school. Their school was not very far, but they loved the journey. One sunny morning, Sohan and Owishi decided to take a different path to school. They wanted to explore a path they had never taken before. As they walked, they discovered a beautiful meadow full of colourful flowers. It was like a magical garden. Curious little creatures with wings fluttered around them. Sohan and Owishi couldn't believe their eyes.

They saw butterflies of all sizes and colors, dancing in the air. There were ladybirds and bees too. The meadow was so captivating that the two friends forgot about going to school. They laughed and played with the butterflies, chasing them from one flower to another. Sohan picked a flower and gave it to Owishi as a gift. They hugged each other, feeling the warmth of their friendship. But then, a soft voice called out, "Children, it's time for school."

Startled, Sohan and Owishi looked around. They saw a wise old tree standing tall at the edge of the meadow.

The tree told them that they would be late if they didn't start walking immediately. With sad faces, Sohan and Owishi said goodbye to the meadow and its enchanting creatures. They promised to visit again when they had more time. Hand in hand, they hurried back towards their school. They realized that even though exploring new things was exciting, going to school and learning new things was important too. Sohan and Owishi may have missed a day full of adventures, but their new memories with the magical meadow became a secret bond between them. Every morning, as they walked to school, they talked about their special day in the meadow. And from that day forward, whenever Sohan and Owishi reached the meadow, they knew they were only a day away from the weekend, when they could visit their magical friends once more..
